

PRESS RELEASE

The boil water alert that was issued on Wednesday, April 5th has ended. Samples collected throughout the affected zone were tested and are free of any E coli bacteria. A thorough investigation is underway to determine the source of the contamination along with a full review of Ridgewood Water Customer notifications. Ridgewood Water regrets any inconvenience this may have caused. The health and safety of our consumers is paramount. Consumers can get the latest information about the utility and its operations from our website, water.ridgewoodnj.net.

Please share this information with your friends and neighbors.